To select the best girth size for a harness purchase, while your pet is standing, measure snugly around the ribcage, just behind the forelegs. Add in an extra 5% of this measurement to determine the girth size needed.

Adjustable Collars can be sized in the same manner: measure snugly around the middle of the neck, then add an extra 5% for comfort.

For a Combo collar, because there is no buckle, it has to slip over the widest aspect of the head, so measure around the head and under the jaw as well as around the neck. Add 5% additional length to whichever measurement is larger to find the Combo collar size range needed.
